

Secretary to a tribunal which knows nothing of righteous judgment.

"I believe that the shortest and easiest path to peace lies in adopting President Taft's platform, who said in his address before the Peace and Arbitration Society, New York, March 22, 1909:

Settle by Arbitration.
"I have noticed exceptions in our arbitration treaties, as to reference of questions of honor to courts of arbitration. Personally I do not see any more reason why matters of national honor should not be referred to a court of arbitration than matters of property or of national proprietorship. I know that it is going further than most men are willing to go, but I do not see why questions of honor may not be submitted to a tribunal composed of men of honor who understand questions of national honor, to abide by their decision, as well as any other questions of difference arising between nations."

"At the opening of the International Bureau of American Republics at Washington, April 30, 1910, President Taft said:
"We twenty-one republics cannot afford to have any two or three of us quarrel. We must stop this, and Mr. Carnegie and I will not be satisfied until all ministers of war can intervene by proper measures to suppress a quarrel between any other two."

"I hope the trustees will begin by pressing forward upon this line, testing it thoroughly and doubting not."
"The judge who presides over a case in which he is interested dies in infancy if discovered. The citizen who constitutes himself a judge in his own case against his fellow citizen and presumes to attack him, is a law-breaker and as such disgraced. He should be held as disgraced which insula upon sitting in judgment in its own case in case of an international dispute."

Rights of Nations.
"If the English-speaking race adopts such a treaty we shall not have to wait long for other nations to join, and it will be noticed that the resolution of Congress in 1890 embracing 'any Government with which the United States has or may have diplomatic relations,' thus nations seem still open to the invitation he is required to give, there being no limitations as to time."

"If the independence and rights of nations to their respective internal policies were first formally recognized in such treaties no dispute concerning these elements of sovereignty could arise."
"The trustees have power to sell, invest or reinvest all funds, either in the United States or in other countries, subject as respects investments in the United States to no more restriction than is imposed upon savings banks or insurance companies in the State of New York."

"In order to give effect to this gift, it will be suitable that the trustees herein named shall form a corporation with lawful powers appropriate to the accomplishment of the purposes herein expressed and authorize the conveyance of the fund to such a corporation."

No Personal Liability.
"No personal liability will attach to trustees for their action or non-action as trustees. They have power to fill vacancies or to add to their number and to employ all officials and to fix their compensation. Trustees shall be reimbursed all expenses incurred in connection with their duties as trustees, including traveling expenses, attending meetings, including expenses of wife or daughter to each annual meeting. The president shall be granted such honoraria as the trustees hereinafter may determine, and as he can be prevailed upon to accept."

"Lines of future action cannot be wisely laid down. Many may have to be tried, and having full confidence in my trustees I leave to them the widest discretion as to the measures and policy they shall from time to time adopt, only promising that the one end they shall see unceasingly in view until it is attained, is the speedy abolition of international war between so-called civilized nations."

Disgraceful to Men.
"When civilized nations enter into such treaties as named or war is discarded as disgraceful to civilized men as personal war (duelling) and man-redding and buying (slavery) have been discarded within the wide boundaries of our English-speaking race, the trustees will please then consider what is the next most degrading remaining evil or evils whose banishment or what new elevating element or elements if introduced or fostered, or both combined—would most advance the progress, elevation and happiness of man, and so on from century to century without end, my trustees of each age shall determine how they can best aid man in his upward march and higher stages of developments unceasingly, for now we know that as a law of his being man was created with the desire and capacity for improvement to which, perchance, there may be no limit short of perfection even here in this life upon earth."

"Let my trustees therefore ask themselves from time to time, from age to age, how they can best help man in his glorious ascent upward and upward and to this end devote this fund."
"Thanking you for your cordial acceptance of the trust and your hearty approval of its object, I am, very gratefully yours,
(Signed) "ANDREW CARNEGIE."
The names of Louise Whitfield Carnegie and Margaret Carnegie, wife and daughter respectively of the donor, are appended to the deed of trusts as witnesses.

SENTENCED THIEF STRIPPED IN COURT OF SUIT HE STOLE

Prosecutor Gets a Baxter Street Outfit for Shivering Prisoner.

When Nicholas Strada, a young copersmith, pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the second degree before Judge Malone in General Sessions today, he had on a fine suit of clothes. Within half an hour the clothes were stripped from him and he was wearing an outfit that cost Assistant District Attorney Delehanty $3 in Baxter street.

Strada on July 16 last stole clothing and jewelry from the home of Giuseppe Telmo at No. 304 West Forty-first street. He was caught a short time ago, indicted and arraigned today for sentence on his plea of guilty. Telmo was in court.

Judge said Telmo, after Strada had been sentenced to a term in Elmira Reformatory, "that's my suit of clothes that fellow has on and I want it."

"I haven't any other clothes," protested Strada.
"That makes no difference to me," retorted Telmo. "The law says you can get stolen property from a thief. He has on a suit that was stolen from me and I want the suit."

Judge Malone decided that Telmo had a good claim and ordered Strada to give up the clothes. The prisoner was taken to an ante-room and stripped. He sat close to a steam radiator until Mr. Delehanty returned with the Baxter street outfit.

DEACONS CALLED NAMES AT CARDS ON SABBATH.
One of Them Gets Six Cents Damages in Suit for $10,000.

HACKENBACK, N. J., Dec. 14.—John V. Roscoe, a deacon in the North Hackensack Reformed Church, teacher in the Sunday-school and a member of the Riverside Hose Company, was awarded six cents damages this afternoon in his suit to recover $10,000 from John D. Demarest, a contracting plumber, a brother deacon and fireman, because Demarest had called him names at the brethren's carnival.

"I admit I called him the name, but he exaggerated me by telling that I was rotten. I didn't mean what the words implied. I also called him a hypocrite and said I could prove it," said Demarest on the witness stand.

Demarest further declared that he and Roscoe had gambled at the carnival till after Saturday midnight, which was contrary to the blue laws of the Reformed Church. Roscoe admitted the gambling, but denied the Sunday playing.

Both deacons are still serving in the church. The trial was conducted by Circuit Court Justice Black.

SLASHED FAITHLESS SUITOR.
Gertrude Banall Used Razor on Benjamin Silver.

Gertrude Banall, a pretty, dark-haired girl of No. 22 Rutgers street, was held today in $2,500 for further examination by Magistrate Kernochan in the Essex Market Court on a charge of felonious assault.

She was arrested last night in Grand street after she had slashed Benjamin Silver of No. 7 Pitt street, to whom she says she was to have been married yesterday. Silver is in Gouverneur Hospital and his condition is said to be serious.

"He sent me a letter saying he would not marry me," she declared. "I put on my wedding dress and I waited for him. When I saw him coming I went crazy and cut him with the razor."

GAYNOR HOLDS POLICE MUST SEE SNOW MOVED.

Writes to Commissioner, Calling His Attention to Neglect by His Patrolmen.

Mayor Gaynor sent to-day to Police Commissioner Cropsey a complaint against Capt. William H. Shaw of the Adams street station, Brooklyn, and the roundsmen and patrolmen whose posts take in Washington street.

The Mayor's letter to the Commissioner reads:
"The snow has not been removed from the sidewalk at No. 226 Washington street, Brooklyn, since the recent snow storms, and it has grown compact and dangerous and has been added to from day to day."

Be so good as to put me down as making a complaint against the captain of that precinct and also against the patrolmen and roundsmen who cover that beat. It was their duty to see that the owner removed the snow promptly, and if not to have him summoned to court under the ordinance."

Might it not be well to issue a general order to the police on this subject, and let them know that if they do not do their duty in respect of it that they will be put on trial. Very truly yours,
W. J. GAYNOR.

TELEPHONE TRUST SUBMITS DEFENSE TO SERVICE BOARD.

Hearing Adjourned Till Next Month, While Statistics Are Studied.

After counsel for the New York Telephone Company had handed in to the Second District Public Service Commission this afternoon a large portfolio containing exhaustive statements and statistics showing earnings, operations, investments and records of toll messages sent, Chairman Stevens announced that the hearing of the complaints charging excessive toll rates for interborough service would be adjourned until some time in January.

This data was submitted in answer to a list of questions which the commission sent to the lawyers for the telephone company after a previous hearing, the first held on the complaints made by the Board of Aldermen and various civic organizations in the five boroughs.

After the commission has gone through the figures and statistics in the answer to the list of questions, the hearing will be continued. The hearing to-day was held in the Assembly Rooms in the Metropolitan Life Insurance Building.

EUROPEAN-AMERICAN BANK GETS LEAVE TO PAY 60 PER CENT.
The European American Bank, which has been in the hands of a receiver since August, was given permission by Supreme Court Justice Ames today to pay depositors a dividend of 60 per cent, aggregating $80,000. The application for the payment of the dividend was made by the bank's Superintendent of Banks.

The motion was opposed by the owner of the building in Greenwich street, where the bank is located. Through counsel he claimed that the bank owes him $20,000 rental. He thought such relief to depositors would impair the balance and his chances of collecting.

Counsel for the bank's Superintendent stated that there is still $20,000 to meet other claims, and advised that suit be instituted by the owner.

WILLIAMSBURG TRUST COMPANY QUILTS BANKING

Refuses More Money and Calls Upon Depositors to Draw Out Balances.

The Williamsburg Trust Company, with its main office at No. 321 Fulton street, and a branch at Broadway and Stockton street, Brooklyn, one of the institutions which failed in 1907 and was reorganized the following spring, decided today to cease accepting deposits and to call upon its depositors to draw out their money.

Every depositor will be paid in full, in cash, and at once. The $1,200,000 on deposit is in the vaults ready to be paid out as soon as depositors present demands, and interest will be figured to today.

There has been no run on the company, but it is not making money. President Jacob E. Klinek announced this afternoon that the directors had decided that, as no new business was coming and profits were dwindling, they must as well liquidate. The capital of the company is $700,000.

No Profit in Continuing.
When the officers had decided to liquidate and go out of business President Klinek called up the State Banking Department and explained the situation. Later Mr. Klinek gave out this statement:

Gen. Braxton Ives has returned to the Williamsburg Trust Company for distribution, over 11,000 shares of capital stock transferred to him in May, 1908. Yesterday Gen. Ives and Mr. W. N. Dryden, as voting trustees, terminated the voting trust agreement under which they held over 5,000 shares of the capital stock and arranged for the return of these shares to the holders who deposited them.

The result of this is to put every shareholder just where he was before suspension. Today the directors have concluded an agreement with the Metropolitan Trust Company whereby they borrow enough money to pay every depositor in full, in cash, at once, and the assets of our company will be liquidated by the Metropolitan company between now and July 1, 1912, but under the direction of the gentlemen who compose the executive committee of the Williamsburg Trust Company.

The Williamsburg Trust Company closed its doors Oct. 25, 1908, during the panic. It had on deposit then $3,350,250. It was known as a Jenkins institution and Frank Jenkins was its president. Backed by the Metropolitan Trust Company, of which Gen. Braxton Ives was president, the trust company reopened June 8, 1908. Its old depositors had all been paid by the receivers.

NEW FIGHT ON THE RULES SETS CONGRESS TALKING.

Speaker's Decision Ends Argument, and Bill That Is Opposed Is Taken Up.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Renewal of the fight on the rules which signaled the past session were precipitated by Congressman Hughes of New Jersey in the House to-day. The point raised was whether a bill considered in regular order last calendar Wednesday could be taken up again to-day.

The question under consideration was whether a bill for the codification and revision of the laws relating to the judiciary, consideration of which occupied all last Wednesday, should again be taken up to-day simply on the call of the chairman of the committee reporting the measure. The question was raised by Mr. Hughes immediately after the House met and after Representative Moen of Pennsylvania, Chairman of the Committee on Revision of Laws, had asked that the House proceed with the consideration of the bill for codifying the judicial laws.

It was declared by the Democratic members that the Judiciary bill, which is lengthy, might be used as a buffer to prevent the House from taking up any other bills for many calendar Wednesday days to come.

After the discussion had proceeded for an hour Speaker Cannon ruled that there were no precedents exactly fitting the situation, but that the House should not be deprived of doing what it desired. He then ruled that the House could settle for itself whether it would proceed to consider the bill. By a vote of 146 to 51 the House decided to take up the measure.

WORSE THAN WILD BEAST.

So Judge Tells Man Who Molested Girl While Posing as Physician.

Judge Mulqueen, in General Sessions this afternoon, in sentencing James McCarthy, aged twenty-seven, of No. 921 Clinton street to four years and eight months in Sing Sing, on a plea of guilty to assault in the second degree, declared that McCarthy was more depraved than a wild beast. McCarthy, 46, he visited the apartment of Mrs. Mary DeVenney, No. 502 West Sixteenth street, and found Mrs. DeVenney's two little daughters, twelve and eleven years old, in the house. A few moments later the youngest girl ran from the room crying. The neighbors were so infuriated that they attacked McCarthy and were dragging him out to lynch him when Policeman Dezell of the Traffic Squad rescued him.

McCarthy pleaded insanity and a commission examined him, declaring him to be sane. He was arrested and convicted in 1908 and did a six months' term for a similar offense.

LOVING NEARLY KILLED BABY

Little Sister Strangled Infant so Hospital Barely Revived It.

While loving her six weeks' old brother Ellsworth to-day as he lay on a couch in their parents' home at No. 712 Camden street, Newark, four-year-old Ellmore Robinson nearly strangled him. The mother of the children fortunately stepped into the room in time to prevent a tragedy.

Seeing the baby black in the face, with little Ellmore's arms wound around his neck, while she told him how much she loved him. The mother nearly collapsed. She seized the baby and rushed with him to the city hospital, three blocks away, where the doctors revived him with difficulty.

As soon as I began to take this medicine I felt better, and in a short time I was entirely cured, and have been in good condition ever since."
